Meredith Polsky founded Matan in 2000 and serves as Matan's National Director of Institutes and Training. Meredith is a nationally sought-after speaker on Jewish Special Education. She holds Master's degrees in Special Education and Clinical Social Work and a graduate certificate in Early Intervention. Meredith is a 2017 Covenant Award recipient, and co-author of I Have a Question about Death: A Book for Children with Autism Spectrum Disorder or other Special Needs (Jessica Kingsley Publishers, 2017) and I Have a Question about Divorce (JKP, 2018).

Best Practices in Inclusive Early Childhood Education: In this Meet Up, we considered concrete strategies and overarching best practices in creating and maintaining early childhood programs that are inclusive of all learners. We talked about the critical role that Jewish early childhood educators play in the lives of young families, and why it is so important that we are skilled in recognizing, communicating and accommodating differences in early childhood development.
